

LITTLE FLAMES POLICY STATEMENT

This Facebook Page has been created for people of sincere intentions, good will, generous hearts, grieving souls and hopeful imaginations to invite us to join in their prayers.

Little Flames will be a place for thoughtfully posted requests to seek the prayers of others for your intentions. When posting any requests and replies it is essential to consider the sensitivities of others. Follow our guidelines; See, Hear, or Speak no unkindness, respect privacy and integrity by only posting names and photos with the consent of those involved.

Also bear in mind that Facebook as a business gleans information so do not disclose any contact details.

Names of any children and vulnerable people should not be published. You can say things like: I ask your prayers for a family, child, person etc...

Prayers on the anniversaries of a death are acceptable as are notifications of a death so long as the Next of Kin has consented.

And it is perfectly in order to share good news asking for prayers of thanksgiving and praise.

Any posts that might be unlawful, hurtful, cause offence or begin to monopolise the page will be removed.

Having read this draft policy statement your observations would be very welcome to help ensure that the page once published serves its purpose well.

April 2020